

Fact File

My guidance for attempting to break the world record for the Longest chain of belts

If you think belt use starts and ends around the human waist, you're wrong! There are world records to be broken with belts; hundreds of them. So get going with your own plans, and hopefully it won't take you years to accumulate all the belts you'll need. If you're the determined sort, if you fail the first time, just do it all again.

To start, gear up for a few rules, such as:

- link the belts properly.
- count the belts.

With so many children involved, this was a great world record attempt. What really satisfied me was being able to donate hundreds of the belts to flood victims on Fiji afterwards. If you try this, what good deed will you create out of the event? Whatever you decide, I hope you can do up buckles though... because after this, you'll never want to see another belt buckle.

Still keen? WorldRecordChase.com is happy to mentor others wishing to attempt this world record, at reasonable rates.

Enjoy.

Please note: neither Alastair Galpin nor WorldRecordChase.com will be responsible for any actions whatsoever undertaken by any person as a result of visiting this website. If you intend to attempt to emulate any of Alastair's world record attempts, always seek expert advice.